GUEST BIOS: Sandra Kay Williams is the Women's Ministries Pastor at the North Cleveland Church of God. An ordained minister and Lee University honor graduate, Williams hosts a video podcast called When Women Lead, serves as Chair of the Board of Directors for The Caring Place (a non-profit aiding the disenfranchised of Bradley County) and also serves on The HELPER advisory council (an interdenominational ministry to spouses of pastors). She led four years as the International Women's Director for the Church of God and raised awareness and funds of over one million dollars for OPERATION FREEDOM, a missions project to rescue children from human trafficking. She has been leading a private prayer group for several years and mentoring Lee students for the past four years. Sandra Kay has been married since 1989 to Dr. Mark L. Williams, Lead Pastor at NCCOG, and they have two sons, Austin and Ryan, and a lovely daughter in law, Barrie Rose.

Curtis Bridgeman is an internationally recognized worship leader, recording artist, songwriter and producer. He has been in full time worship ministry since 1996. He, his wife Charmaine and their three sons, Eyan Zechariah, Benjamin David and Zion, reside in St. Louis, MO where they serve as Minister of Music at Twin Rivers Worship Center. Their unique contemporary style combines their roots in gospel music with the passion for worship. This ministry has taken them around the world spreading the Gospel message of Christ.
